

Forum on Aging in Rural Oregon

The Oregon Office of Rural Health is proud to announce:

The 1st Annual Forum on Aging in Rural Oregon

Save the Date

April 20th – 21st

Best Western Hood River Inn

The Oregon Office of Rural Health believes that rural Oregon communities have the potential to be ideal places to age. This event will provide a forum where people can gather to talk about their experiences, give birth to new ideas, and communities are given the inspiration and other resources to create their own successes. The agenda will be finalized and available here in mid-February. It is organized around three focus areas:

- Clinical — content for a variety of health care providers, to learn how to better serve their older patients/clients
- Structural — examples of best practices that rural Oregon communities can bring "back home" to replicate in their own communities
- Cultural — learn how we can think and behave differently that make it easier for rural Oregonians to age in place

This forum is intended for community members, family caregivers, elder care professionals, primary care providers, policy makers, philanthropists and anyone interested in making it easier for seniors to age in place in rural Oregon.

Stay tuned for more information as it becomes available!
